

“Best Story Contest”

Contest decisions will be within the sole and absolute discretion of Physicians ExamOne (hereafter referred to as “PEO”), whose decision shall be final.

For the story to qualify, the following must be met:

A. Categories

1. Humorous moments
2. Scary situations
3. Bizarre clients
4. Clients pets
5. Children, spouses and family
6. Exam sites
7. “Outrageous” requests; clients or advisors
8. Specimen collections
9. While on the road
10. Misc. great stories not related to the above

B. The story must be free from any names or other contact information regarding insurance companies, clients, financial advisors, and paramed companies. The story must also be free from any personal or representative information.

C. The story must not be related to examiner or office error.

D. For accuracy, stories must be submitted by the person that experienced the situation.

The story being submitted does not have to be one that was experienced while working with ExamOne.

By submitting your story in the “Best Story Contest” (hereafter referred to as the “Contest”), you agree to all of the following:

- All rules and regulations of the contest will be in PEO’s sole and absolute discretion.
- Any story submitted to the Contest will not be confidential and may be used in any manner deemed appropriate by PEO and its assigns. Such use may include reprinting the story as part of a book or manual compiled by PEO. The story may be edited by PEO in its sole and absolute discretion for its intended use. PEO and its assigns will be the sole owner of the story, including any books, compilation or reprinting of the story.
- The story may appear in a book, manual or other compilation used by PEO and its assigns for marketing, sales, instruction, education, or other purposes.
- No further compensation, now or in the future, will be paid to the contestant beyond the potential contest prize money.
- You represent and warrant that the story submitted is truthful and accurate.
- You hereby release, discharge, indemnify and hold harmless PEO, Quest Diagnostics, LabOne, ExamOne, and their owners, officers, directors and assigns from any and all damages, liabilities and causes of action of yourself and any third party arising out of, or in any way related to, the story submitted.

Please forward questions to: news@phexamone.com